

Born in Casablanca (Morocco), Raphaël Languillat is a french composer and multimedia artist. Merging acoustic instruments with electronic sounds, dealing with art history (especially painting) and the re-imagination of narratives (especially religious and mythological) his works use extensively the “photographic” (still and moving images), as well as text and color as central elements. He is part of the Frankfurt New Music Society executive board, co-founder of Duo ‘low contrast’ and lives in Offenbach/Main (DE).
